We are informed by a person who has carefully watched their work, that the surveyors, supposed to be in the employ of the Alhambra and Topinka, who have so long been engaged in the mountains to the southeast of this place, have at last found a route by which they are confident the managers of that railroad system will be perfectly satisfied. It is one that may be cheaply built over as well as rapidly, and the steepest grades will be less than an hundred feet to the mile. The tunnels will be few in number and short, the longest only 1000 feet. There being no doubt of the truth of this statement, we may expect to see a large grading and construction forced work in these mountains within three months. - Kern County Californian.

We extend a cordial invitation to home seekers, investors and investors generally to visit our office, 112 South street, where we have listed an array of choice improved property, embracing bearing vineyards and orchards, Colon stock farms, suburban residences and select business residence property in Fresno City.

Unimproved raisin grape land with or without rights, in the most desirable locations, for sale in tracts to purchasers. We feel safe in saying that we can satisfy a purchaser, no matter whether he may have $100 or $1,000 to invest.

No other real estate firm doing business in the interior has the facilities for securing and subdividing large tracts, hence we are able secure better bargains for those who purchase through our agency. Intending purchasers will be shown any property they may desire to look at free of charge.

Lands bought and sold on commission; charge for absent owners--rents collected, taxes paid, etc. All of title furnished, and conveyances legally made.

UTILITY AND BEAUTY COMBINED.

The California Cactus Hedge

Is a handsome evergreen, from four to five feet in height, perfect in shape without trimming. Will turn all kinds of stock from two to three years' growth, and is guaranteed rabbit proof. For three months in the year it is a solid mass of flowers, making the most beautiful hedge in existence. For Beauty, Cheapness and Durability the Cactus Hedge is Without a Rival.

It grows easily in wet or dry soil, with or without irrigation. Read what reliable men say of it:

FRESNO, August 22, 1886.
From 1880 to time I have noticed the rapid growth of the Cactus Hedge around the Colton House grounds. I am well satisfied it is the best for California. Its growth is wonderful, and it certainly will be economical.

Mr. J. W. DUMAS, Yours of April 12th is at hand. I regret that I was from home at the time and could not answer you sooner in regards to your inquiry about my hedge. I will just say that I have the best hedge I ever saw or expect to see, unless it be more of the same plant, viz: the Sea-bell Bush Cactus. It is a solid wall of thorns from the ground up. My old hedge has been turned out to all kinds of stock. It turns all kinds of stock from a rabbit up. If any one doubts my word let them come and see for themselves. Yours, etc.

Dozens of testimonials may be seen on application.

SELMA, Fresno Co., Cal.

Have some fine Bargains in Real Estate in the vicinity of

SELMA AND FOWLER.

And only a short distance from Fresno. There are no better fruit, vine or alfalfa lands in the State than these, and our facilities for irrigation cannot be excelled. We offer this month the following

SPECIAL BARGAINS:

200 acres of fine level land, 4 miles from Selma; best quality of fruit, vine or alfalfa lands in the country; good house and place up to March 10, 1937. Price, $5000, one-half cash.

160 acres, improved, near Kirby vineyard; fine land, all in wheat. 1/2 of crop goes with place, at $25 per acre; 1/2 cash.

40 acres 3 miles northeast of Selma, on county road, 1/4 mile from the school house; very best fruit and vine land; good dwelling, barn, outhouses, water right in the Church ditch, and all in grain. Price with crop, $2,000; $1,200 cash, balance to suit.

250 acres 8 miles from Selma, finely improved; good house, barn, windmill, pump, power, orchard, vineyard; nearly all fenced and subdivided; 100 acres of alfalfa, water right and land all subdivided. This is a fine stock ranch and is a bargain. Improvements worth $3,000. Price, $25,000, 1/2 cash, balance at 8 per cent. Farming implements with place at balance price.

We have other farms in good locations, improved and unimproved, in tracts of 80, 40, 80 and 160 acres at prices ranging from $20 to $50 on easy terms. We guarantee to show as fine fruit, vine and alfalfa lands, with as good water facilities for irrigation as are to be seen in Fresno county. Don't take our word for this, and don't believe statements to the contrary by anyone, but come and see for yourselves. Respectfully,

HOGUE & SESNON,

Real Estate Agents, Selma, Cal.

Senator Stanford's Liberal Policy to Populate the State.

Senator Stanford's latest project, as reported this morning, is a startling one. It is in a measure the realization of Henry George's idea, that transportation should be like air and sunlight. Mr. Stanford proposes to bring immigrants to California for nothing, so far as the lines of the Southern Pacific Company are concerned. He hopes to make such terms with the Eastern roads that he can offer a through rate of $5 from the Missouri river and $15 from Chicago. Every precaution is to be taken to confine these advantages to actual immigrants. The applicants will have to furnish proof that their stay in California is not to be transient, and it is proposed to bring them in parties to prevent the transfer of tickets.

Of course, the railroad does not derive this enterprise as a matter of philanthropy. It understands that every settler brought over its lines will be a permanent customer. For the trifling expense of carrying a family on a single trip it will have the hauling of several additional carloads of wheat or fruit a year, as well as the transportation of the merchandise the family will use, and an indefinite number of local passenger fares. It is easy to see that the enterprise could become a very profitable investment.

For the State, under the restrictions proposed, it should be equally profitable. Of course, we have no desire to see an army of tramps dumped down in our midst, but neither does the railroad. That is not the kind of settlers it would like to bring. Its interests and ours in the matter are identical. The effect of the change would simply bring us on an equality with Kansas and Dakota. When an Eastern family is preparing to move West, it weighs the advantages of different sections. Against the California climate it balances the cost of getting here, which for a large household is a small fortune. The bare cost of transportation to this coast would set this family up in comparative comfort in California. It is a heavily handicapped by this difference. It makes us less some of the most substantial and desirable elements in the country.

The railroad's experiment is worth trying. If it should work fairly, it could easily be stopped. But now, however, we need more people. The Chinese maintain their footing here because of the absolute impossibility of replacing them. The quarters can not secure enough white labor and but for the Chinese pickers the fruit crop would rot on the ground. There is an abundance of land yet undeveloped. The industries of California can not be managed like the great machine filled with wheels of Dakota. They require a dense population. Our only care need be to see that the population is of the right kind.

SCENERY OF THE SAN JOAQUIN.

Why The Overland Routes Should Traverse This Valley.

The newspapers in the various parts of the State comment from time to time on the superiority of the coast route of the Southern Pacific over that of the San Joaquin. In the way of its climatic and scenic attributes. In this a great mistake is made. Most of the way the range of vision is restricted to narrow limits and little is seen to impress the mind of the traveler with the great resources and boundless possibilities of California. As to climate, for eight months of the year, that of the San Joaquin is unsurpassable. Fine air and of coast is for the same period, every Californian possessed of a fair knowledge of the State, knows that it is better and more agreeable in the San Joaquin valley. Nor does this advantage depart in the best months. True, it will then be very pleasant to stroll along the ocean beach between San Buenaventura, Santa Barbara and beyond, but what of the burning heat which then prevails in the valleys between San Luis Obispo and Soledad? We know from experience that it often reaches the extreme limit of human endurance and surpasses that of many forms of animal life. It exposed to it the best of us would find the San Joaquin air positively delightful in comparison. A ride along the stretch of sea beach referred to, in August, is a pleasure no one would buy but once at the expense of going over an equal distance where the direct rays of the sun come down with as little to mitigate their intensity as any spot known to man on the earth's surface.—Kern County Californian.

THE POLAND FOWL AND THE DUPER.

A Poland Fowl who had Escaped from the Coop of a Dealer in Fairy Poultry, Was Wandering along Kearney Street, when he Met a San Francisco Dutch Countryman of a Barber Shop, where he Had Been having his Hair Cut in the latest Pompadour Style. "How do you do Brother?" Said the Poland Fowl, Extending his Right Claw. "Why do you Call me Brother?" Replied the Dutchman. "I know you don't." "Indeed I do," Said the Poland Fowl, "but My Mistake was Natural. I Knew by the Cut of Your Hair and the Top-Knot on Your Head that You Belonged to My Species, and I Took You for my Brother that I Left behind Me in the Coop when I Escaped."

THOMAS SEAR KING.
Why It Is Proposed to Erect a Monument to His Memory.

The Sear King Monument Association has issued the following address:

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27, 1887.
Thomas Sear King came to California in the year 1850, and although a comparatively young man he had already made a name for himself as a successful and energetic business man. He was a native of New England, where his father had been a prominent figure in the community. He came to California in 1850, and in 1851 he was elected to the office of Mayor of San Francisco. He was a man of great energy and ability, and he was a man of great courage and determination. He was a man of great faith and devotion, and he was a man of great love and kindness. He was a man of great honor and integrity, and he was a man of great wisdom and understanding. He was a man of great strength and courage, and he was a man of great faith and devotion. He was a man of great love and kindness, and he was a man of great honor and integrity. He was a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he was a man of great strength and courage.

He had hardly become acclimated to the new relations and conditions existing in a field of labor, when he was elected to the office of Mayor of San Francisco. He was a man of great energy and ability, and he was a man of great courage and determination. He was a man of great faith and devotion, and he was a man of great love and kindness. He was a man of great honor and integrity, and he was a man of great wisdom and understanding. He was a man of great strength and courage, and he was a man of great faith and devotion. He was a man of great love and kindness, and he was a man of great honor and integrity. He was a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he was a man of great strength and courage.

Other states in the Union were in a state of confusion and disorder. He was a man of great energy and ability, and he was a man of great courage and determination. He was a man of great faith and devotion, and he was a man of great love and kindness. He was a man of great honor and integrity, and he was a man of great wisdom and understanding. He was a man of great strength and courage, and he was a man of great faith and devotion. He was a man of great love and kindness, and he was a man of great honor and integrity. He was a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he was a man of great strength and courage.

He was a man of great energy and ability, and he was a man of great courage and determination. He was a man of great faith and devotion, and he was a man of great love and kindness. He was a man of great honor and integrity, and he was a man of great wisdom and understanding. He was a man of great strength and courage, and he was a man of great faith and devotion. He was a man of great love and kindness, and he was a man of great honor and integrity. He was a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he was a man of great strength and courage.

WHY WE ARE NERVOUS.

A National Characteristic Discussed by a Woman Scientist—Stresses Contrasts. Nervousness is more and more regarded as an undesirable characteristic of our nation. The idea that we are a particularly nervous people is becoming widespread. It is a fact that in the last ten years "nervousness" has become almost a household word. The question arises, are Americans more nervous than other nations of the same grade of civilization, and if so, what are the causes of this condition? It is a question that is of great importance to the nation, and it is a question that is being discussed by a woman scientist, who is a woman of great energy and ability, and who is a woman of great courage and determination. She is a woman of great faith and devotion, and she is a woman of great love and kindness. She is a woman of great honor and integrity, and she is a woman of great wisdom and understanding. She is a woman of great strength and courage, and she is a woman of great faith and devotion. She is a woman of great love and kindness, and she is a woman of great honor and integrity. She is a woman of great wisdom and understanding, and she is a woman of great strength and courage.

The fact that climate is not a prominent influence is shown most conclusively by the condition of those towns which are found upon the map, though invisible to the eye, which separates the United States from Canada on the north and Mexico on the south. The inhabitants of places within an arrow shot of each other exhibit the contrasting national peculiarities. A striking Texas town, with all the characteristics of the American West, is seen on one side of the dividing river, while on the other is the Mexican-Spanish town, with its Spanish inhabitants with customs of 200 years ago undisturbed.

To avoid nervousness we should pay more attention to hygiene, and indulge in more exercise, and take more of the outdoor exercise to develop the physique, and educate the people and children out of this notion that because one is an American he or she must be nervous. It is a loss of the governing power, the will, which shows an increased reliance upon the intellect, which is a characteristic of the nervousness, and has given to the word its modern definition of weakness, while a proper display of confidence, hopefulness, and initiative impulses, according to their nature, gives the old-time significance of strength and force. There is no reason in the external which surrounds Americans, if they properly understand their own nature, and regulate their actions, why the nervousness which has been attributed to them should be more than a passing fancy. —Dr. Grace Peckham's Essay at Saratoga.

Just outside the gate and across the way from the shop of the potato and pork merchant there stands a man, who is a man of great energy and ability, and who is a man of great courage and determination. He is a man of great faith and devotion, and he is a man of great love and kindness. He is a man of great honor and integrity, and he is a man of great wisdom and understanding. He is a man of great strength and courage, and he is a man of great faith and devotion. He is a man of great love and kindness, and he is a man of great honor and integrity. He is a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he is a man of great strength and courage.

He is a man of great energy and ability, and he is a man of great courage and determination. He is a man of great faith and devotion, and he is a man of great love and kindness. He is a man of great honor and integrity, and he is a man of great wisdom and understanding. He is a man of great strength and courage, and he is a man of great faith and devotion. He is a man of great love and kindness, and he is a man of great honor and integrity. He is a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he is a man of great strength and courage.

He is a man of great energy and ability, and he is a man of great courage and determination. He is a man of great faith and devotion, and he is a man of great love and kindness. He is a man of great honor and integrity, and he is a man of great wisdom and understanding. He is a man of great strength and courage, and he is a man of great faith and devotion. He is a man of great love and kindness, and he is a man of great honor and integrity. He is a man of great wisdom and understanding, and he is a man of great strength and courage.

He is a man of great energy and ability, and he is a man of great courage and determination. He is a man of great faith and devotion, and he is a man of great love and kindness.
